The MLB offseason is in full swing, and that means one thing: free agency. This year's free agent class is one of the deepest in recent memory, with a number of top-tier players available. In this article, we'll take a look at the best free agent pitchers and hitters available, and break down their strengths and weaknesses.

Free Agent Pitchers

Gerrit Cole

Gerrit Cole is the top free agent pitcher available this offseason. The 29-year-old right-hander is coming off a season in which he went 20-5 with a 2.50 ERA and 326 strikeouts. Cole is one of the most dominant pitchers in baseball, and he's expected to command a huge contract in free agency.

Stephen Strasburg

Stephen Strasburg is another top free agent pitcher available this offseason. The 32-year-old right-hander is coming off a season in which he went 18-6 with a 3.32 ERA and 251 strikeouts. Strasburg is a four-time All-Star and a one-time World Series champion. He's a workhorse on the mound, and he's expected to be one of the most sought-after free agents this offseason.

Trevor Bauer

Trevor Bauer is a bit of a wild card this offseason. The 29-year-old right-hander is coming off a season in which he went 11-5 with a 4.48 ERA and 133 strikeouts. Bauer is a very talented pitcher, but he's also known for being outspoken and controversial. He's expected to be a polarizing figure in free agency, but he could also be a very valuable addition to a team.

Marcus Stroman

Marcus Stroman is a solid free agent pitcher who could be a good fit for a number of teams. The 29-year-old right-hander is coming off a season in which he went 9-13 with a 3.22 ERA and 157 strikeouts. Stroman is a good all-around pitcher who can eat up innings and keep his team in games.

Jake Odorizzi

Jake Odorizzi is another solid free agent pitcher who could be a good fit for a number of teams. The 30-year-old right-hander is coming off a season in which he went 15-7 with a 3.51 ERA and 178 strikeouts. Odorizzi is a good strike-thrower who can be a reliable innings eater.

Free Agent Hitters

George Springer

George Springer is the top free agent hitter available this offseason. The 31-year-old outfielder is coming off a season in which he hit .265 with 39 home runs and 96 RBIs. Springer is a three-time All-Star and a one-time World Series champion. He's a complete player who can hit for power and average, and he's also a good defender in center field.

J.T. Realmuto

J.T. Realmuto is the top free agent catcher available this offseason. The 30-year-old is coming off a season in which he hit .276 with 11 home runs and 40 RBIs. Realmuto is a two-time All-Star and a one-time Gold Glove winner. He's one of the best catchers in baseball, and he's also a very good hitter.

DJ LeMahieu

DJ LeMahieu is a versatile infielder who can play second base, third base, and first base. The 32-year-old is coming off a season in which he hit .364 with 10 home runs and 46 RBIs. LeMahieu is a three-time All-Star and a two-time batting champion. He's a very good hitter who can put the ball in play and make contact.

Nelson Cruz

Nelson Cruz is a designated hitter who is still one of the most dangerous hitters in baseball. The 40-year-old is coming off a season in which he hit .313 with 41 home runs and 105 RBIs. Cruz is a seven-time All-Star and a four-time Silver Slugger winner. He's a very good hitter who can still hit for power and average.

Marcell Ozuna

Marcell Ozuna is a powerful outfielder who is coming off a down season. The 30-year-old is coming off a season in which he hit .252 with 18 home runs and 56 RBIs. Ozuna is a two-time All-Star and a one-time Silver Slugger winner. He's a very good hitter who can hit for power and average.

The 2020-21 MLB offseason is shaping up to be one of the most active in recent memory. With a number of top-tier free agents available, teams will be looking to make some big moves. The players listed above are just a few of the many free agents who could be on the move this offseason. It will be interesting to see where these players end up, and how they can help their new teams compete in 2021.
