Anneliese Michel: The Real-Life Lucy

Anneliese Michel was born on September 21, 1952, in Leiblfling, Germany. She was a devout Catholic and a member of the Catholic youth group. In 1973, at the age of 20, Anneliese began to experience strange and disturbing symptoms. She heard voices, saw visions, and was plagued by nightmares. She also began to exhibit physical symptoms, such as convulsions, vomiting, and bleeding from her eyes.

Anneliese's parents took her to see a doctor, but no physical cause for her symptoms could be found. They then turned to the Church for help. In 1975, two priests, Father Arnold Renz and Father Ernst Alt, were assigned to perform an exorcism on Anneliese. The exorcism rituals were brutal and lasted for months. Anneliese was subjected to beatings, starvation, and sleep deprivation. She was also forced to drink holy water and eat consecrated hosts.

Anneliese's condition worsened during the exorcism rituals. She became increasingly violent and aggressive. She also began to speak in tongues and to make guttural noises. The priests believed that Anneliese was possessed by multiple demons, including Lucifer, Judas Iscariot, and Hitler.

Anneliese Michel died on July 1, 1976, at the age of 23. Her death was ruled a homicide by the German courts. The two priests who performed the exorcism were convicted of negligent homicide and sentenced to three years in prison.
