

The New Biographical Dictionary of Film: The Ultimate Guide to Filmmakers

The New Biographical Dictionary of Film is the most comprehensive and up-to-date reference work on film. The sixth edition includes over 9,000 entries on actors, directors, producers, writers, cinematographers, editors, composers, and other film professionals, from the silent era to the present day.

The dictionary is organized alphabetically by name, with each entry providing a detailed biography of the individual, including their birth and death dates, filmography, awards, and other notable achievements. The entries are written by a team of expert film historians and critics, and they are illustrated with hundreds of photographs and stills.
